This photographic periodic table is composed by 103 images created by students coming from 25 different high schools in North-East Italy (Veneto region). The work was developed in the framework of the national Piano Lauree Scientifiche (PLS, Scientific Degrees Plan) project at the Department of Chemical Sciences of the University of Padova.

Each snapshot describes the relevant properties or application of the element it represents and is accompanied by a brief text containing useful and curious facts about the element.

The italian version is available online at:
